

X-ray wood log automatic analysis

Microtec produces X-ray scanners and tomographs for measuring wood logs before they are cut. The proposed work is to create a neural network for the automatic processing of X-ray images using as ground truth the classification already done with an industrial tomograph.

